35 Hyperinflation is probably what the left wants, especially for those in (student loan) debt.

▼ Example: (Student loan) debt is a fixed-dollar amount, but with inflation, money will be devalued so that they have to get paid 2x or 3x the amount to get the same "purchasing power" they had before.

permalink parent save report block reply

11 Hyperinflation is the only thing that can save the banks. Look at the moves the IMF is making too. The coof has allowed them to make whole countries mortgage themselves with crippling stipulations.

6 The left don't care about student debt. Virtue signalling about it is just an easy way to net votes.

More Republicans live in CA than any other State. CA has lots of strategic resources: Ports, oil/gas, tech, aircraft/missile/drone productions, colleges, major military bases, crops/food, water, mountains(terrain), population centers, propaganda Hollywood industry, and many other things. It's why the CCP and commies have been making it a major beach-head landing zone for 27 years now full speed cheating elections since the 1994 Prop 187 Fight.

California = Republican.

Some cities have the commies & corrupt running them; but overall with Election Integrity Restored, CA would be supermajority Republican (and not the corrupt Mittens types either).

Secession is only a temporary solution at best, unfortunately. Nothing would prevent traitorous Zionists Soros and Zuckerberg from continuing to fund, elect, and bribe traitorous gubermint vermin and unscrupulous judges in Texas or any seceded states, for that matter, like they have done nationwide to great effect.

6 ▼ No, it would be illegal for any private citizen to sponsor or fund any government-run event, such as elections. Zuckerberg spent more than the government did to hold this election in all the places where the fraud occurred (most likely...can't confirm in all cases but in some, because the non-profit refuses to disclose how they allocated the 400M...the ones we know about are due to the grant recipients themselves disclosing the amount they received vs. their federal funding). He bought drop boxes, paid for BLMers to have increased presence in polling stations, paid for machines, etc. This money went through a non-profit that refuses to release to the public how the $400 million was allocated. They have only revealed which districts got funding, but now how much each received. That's fucking bullshit and it should be illegal now, and probably is, but since he's a leftist he'll never be prosecuted.

All those motherfuckers that were covering the windows, all those motherfuckers counting and processing ballots with Biden masks on; the reason there were so many more of them than us is because Zuckerberg bankrolled them.

I've been reaching out to lawyers seeking guidance on whether or not I could sue that motherfucker for interfering and trying to influence a election by funding it on a partisan basis. This shit has me fucking fuming. I never did like that little faggot and now I want civil and criminal cases filed against him, seeking punitive damages on the civil side.

I totally understand how you feel! But consider the possibility that GEOTUS would never telegraph his plans to his enemies. Remember ISIS? :p

It's 100% clear to me GEOTUS needs us to stay out of the way of a false flag or Patriot military operation. I understand we are under intense pressure. The deepstate media and politicians desperately need us to justify their fuckin fascist bullshit. They need it NOW. They need us freaking out and shooting in the streets. FUCK THEM. WE DON'T TRIGGER LIKE LIBTARDS.

If we have to fight. We will do it on our own terms. On our own timeline. Never forget one dude crippled the entire LAPD for 9 days.

After biden is (fraudulently) sworn in the q peeps will be like "well actually Biden being sworn in and being President is also part of the plan. Trump is working with military/ fema from behind the scenes to finally expose and bring down the deep state. Some of this Q stuff is like the Iraqi Dinar scam where the promise of a revaluation (RV) 'soon' has been happening for pretty much since the war. The reasons why it is not happening yet change by the week, and scam operators thrust forth a mix of bogus Finance, Diplomacy and Spook Q-like talk in regular nonsense word salads. I think its principal victims have been lone geriatrics whose memory of last week is fuzzy so all that remains of last week's excuses is a vague emotional recollection of the optimism (which is hopium I guess). What is missing is the BS/Suspicion factor rising to an awakening and sudden snap of anger. I think these people have that part of the brain short-circuited somehow.

You can still catch bits of Dinar RV Hopium at rumormillnews.com, otherwise an interesting place for odd stuff, in messages mentioning 'poof'. It's really thesis-worthy.

▼ permalink parent save report block reply▲ Pinko10 9 hours ago +11 / -0

11 Exactly. Georgia is unfortunately now loaded with commies that have come from the NE and West Coast. While we are very red outside of Atlanta, we are seriously being overwhelmed. The fraud here was deep, but the sad reality is that the commie numbers here are deep as well. Even if there was mild fraud, there are still a LOT of commies here and they KEEP COMING. As long as there are good economies in red states, the commies will keep coming. The dreams of Texas seceding are nice dreams. But Texas has been overrun by commies moving out of the West Coast and bringing their commie politics. Texas is less red today then it ever was. Same as Georgia. Somehow, we have to get rid of the commies.

We need to accept that Trump is a hero but he's also just a man. He's a good strategist but even the best strategist can't always see five steps ahead and even if they can sometimes it's just not winnable. He took every peaceful avenue he could to fight the steal and I don't think he's willing to try a violent one. I understand the decision. Nobody in America has put more on the line for the country. The quicker we accept that we're going to have to take some lumps and keep fighting, the better.

14 No we didn't fuck over Trump. Trump was on the way out regardless. He picked a backstabbing traitor to be his righthand man. Billy Bagpipes to be AG, Christopher Wray to be leader of the countries premier law enforcement agency, and it cost us our democratic process.

This movement is bigger than Trump. If we want something done we are going to have to do it ourselves.

▼ To ensure that common people (falsely) believe the narrative that the Capitol Hill protest was truly a "threat to democracy" and an attempted "insurrection," then an overwhelming display of military force is required as a reaction.

Whether or not the inauguration of fraud will be virtual, the unnecessarily strong presence of military is for the purpose of fear -- fear for anyone who would dare be a Trump supporter and fear of the common person for a Trump supporter.

▼ So far, that I've seen, we have the following:

6 broken windows, tops.

Guy sat in Mike Penis' chair.

Podium Man picked up a podium, got an excellent photo op and put podium down.

Guy put his feet on Nancy's desk, stole envelope.

Someone took a computer, unclear if it left the building.

An elder Ladypede had her picture taken holding a small flag.

Some dipshit hit a cop with a stick.

A man (who should be arrested) threw a fire extinguisher at a cop, cop brushed it off and didn't even turn around to see who did it.

Am I missing something?

2 I'dk, watch around 1:05 on, the guy in the tan coat, tan backpack, holding the stick. Watch the top of the stick, it appears to have a nail through it and he comes up and starts whacking the hell out of the cops. Not saying some of these guys aren't agitators same as we saw video from in the building, but to say this was a safe place is lying.

NOBODY I s f ocusing on the breachers -- the dude who looks like Slayer's frontman who broke into the capitol, and all the guys with plate carriers and helmets who went in with him.

They broke in, others entered too, and the doors were open to the larger masses.

I really don't fault people who when seeing the door open went inside the "people's hous  , fault the people who broke the side window and infiltrated.

What do we know about them? Less than the Mandilay Bay shooter, and nobody in the media

34 Agree 100%. I mean unless we're pretending it didn't happen so the FBI doesn't come for us but you'd be downvoted to hell and called a shill if you insisted violence was NOT the right answer on the 6th and "well what else could trump mean when he said it will be wild??!?!?!?". Literally the night of the 6th, people on here were saying "IT WAS MUH ANTIFA!!!!"

Mmmmyeah no, I was there. Maybe some antifa but it was mostly pissed off Trump supporters. And after being there, I do not blame them for what they did. But we need to stop fucking pretending we're innocent. This site was fucking filled with people calling for civil war. Anyone solely blaming antifa cannot be trusted. It's just as ridiculous as hearing the left blame "white supremacists" for the BLM riots.

Own your rage. Don't be a faggot and point fingers (just like the left does) when you get caught.

15 Finally. Someone who was there and saw exactly what I watched. They were us and yeah, we are pissed but the reality is as pissed off as we were and are it was guys sitting in Pelosi's chair taking selfie's. Or another guy making off with the lectern. The only violence I saw was that fucking cocksucker of a fed sack of shit who shot one of our women. And yeah I want see that fuck hung or shot by firing squad. Some of you people need to grow a pair of nuts. Of course Donald isn't going to condone violence and how the fuck do you know they haven't threatened him. We are a 75 million man armed and very pissed off army. Go lose your fucking guns in a boating accident if that's all you've got. Mine aren't lost. I don't want to use them but i'll be God damned if they are are going to get away with curtailing MY free speech or feel they can shoot my loved ones in the neck. We are on the verge of war. A war that has been declared on us not the other way around. I don't mind if my guy loses the election. It's happened before and we all deal with it. But if rat fuck cocksuckers like Dorsey, Zuck and that fucking faggot Huffman think that we are going to just sit by while they silence us and our guy and we are going to just let this happen they are dreaming.

This site was born because that fucking cunt kicked us off reddit. This place probably won't be here in a month. How many fucking sites do you need to get kicked of before you say no more?

I'm not advocating going to DC on the 20th because it's obviously to frame us. It'll be used to come for us and our guns, the only means of defense that we will have left.

You might want to think about where your lines in the sand are if you haven't done it. I drew mine 25 years ago. Up until some of the things we've seen in the last week I've never seen a one  close to being crossed. But it's getting pretty damn close right now.

I hope you fellows who lost your guns in that boat accident are fucking done with that shit. If that's

I will abide by his call to remain peaceful. For now. I don't think the peace is going to last, sadly. Nobody wants war without exhausting every possibility for peace. I think Trump has done and is doing that. Realize one thing: they are going to fuck him so hard into the dirt if they allowed to that no one will ever rise up to do what he's tried to do again. I'm pretty sure no one will anyway. I hope and pray to my God for tenacity, wisdom and courage in the coming weeks to do the right thing. I hope it doesn't come down to violence but I'm pretty sure our founders wouldn't be expecting to win the next election after the last one they just watched got stolen.

7 That's not the shocker. Back the blue was flawed. While there are plenty of based Leo's, the departments across the country need new and better training. BLM and Antifa got pissed and burned shit because all you see on tv is cops killing black people but in reality they kill just as many whites for no good reason and no fleeing a scene that had no violence involved does not warrant having an entire clip unloaded into you. The police are not our friends like a lot wanna believe. They will always look out for them selves and other officers over us. Everyone should have came together and pushed that the ones who swear to protect us do fucking better this past summer and maybe things wouldn't have burned and been as bad.

▼ Usually when someone signs up to join this site, they get a handshake icon next to their username and it stays there for a certain period of time until it disappears.

Lately we've been getting ambushed by a lot of handshake accounts (implying they're new) being shills and trolls because they know we've won and they're shaking in their frilly underpants or diapers that they'll have to deal with GEOTUS for 12 more years.

They think by insulting or making disparaging remarks will reassure their dominance over us but they're sadly mistaken. They're just a bunch of lost souls or sold their soul to the Devil.

MAGA people were there too. At the end of the day the attack itself doesn't really matter. There are idiots on both sides who do stupid shit at all of these mass gatherings. The issues are 1) why is it being painted as a bad thing now when it was encouraged by the left all summer when the riots were not on their doorstep and 2) why is Trump blamed for the Capitol when Nancy and Co. had much more explicit calls to violence all summer and received not a peep of reproach.

Exactly. As Scott Adams said, for the amount of people there, and many coming from very far away because they were pissed that no one will even consider looking at or auditing a single state, that the amount of violence that occurred was wholly appropriate.

Agree. The violence, equal to about an average antifablrm riot a small city, minus the arson and looting, was appropriate considering the crowd's grievance. Not auditing votes.

- Those who engaged in the attacks last week will be brought to justice.
- Obey the Instructions of Law Enforcement.
- No true supporter of mine could do any of these things.
- If you do any of these things, you are not supporting our movement. You are attacking it. We cannot tolerate it.

- I've instructed federal agencies to use all necessary resources to maintain order.

Mind you there was a clearly marked swat team right besides the people entering, so there was zero indication anyone there would at any point be violent or armed because if they were they'd have been arrested already. Unless the shooter believed those officers were aiding the protestors, at which point Mr. gunman would be resiting law enforcement anyway.

Maybe if the Capitol Police did their job to prevent people from entering the Capitol then the Secret Service inside tasked with protecting government officials wouldn't have had to shoot her. Whether you agree with the protesters actions or not, the job of the Capitol Police is to prevent people from entering the building which as you stated they did not do. The next line of security had to pick up the slack and actually do their job to protect those inside the chamber.

▼ just saying, she was climbing through a window. She wasn't standing directly in front of him. If you imagine the body movement when climbing through a window (stepping one foot on the frame while holding the sides of the frame, putting head then shoulders through window, stepping one foot down then the other), it makes more sense, She was shot once head/neck went through the window, the first body part in sight would be head/neck.

Not saying it was justified, I'm not implying anything by what I wrote just specifically addressing your "why didnt he shoot here or there!!" concern. I will say i am very disappointed to see the whole "shoot her in the leg!!" argument here. That's just..not how it works. He shot the first prominent body part that came through the window.

You sound like you're a shill. Of course I would say this if it was antifa. What's the difference? A body is a body and if they're secret service they should know what they're doing with a gun. Don't know what your point is with that.

I know they're not trained to shoot them in the leg, or the fucking face, which is why I said center mass first. I don't know why the fuck he shot her in the neck when he could've easily shot her in the chest. He was close enough, and she wasn't running anywhere that he could've even shot her in the leg because she was putting her weight on them to climb. It was one of the best times to be able to shoot a target in the leg if ever.

I've seen the video. The cop was clearly visible, but people tend to get tunnel-vision when the adrenaline is pumping. Typically, cops will give verbal commands before shooting (idk, the video I saw didn't have the sound track). It was fortunate more people weren't shot.

I'm actually shocked they didn't shoot earlier cause they might not have been trying to detain but they did say not to go. Which makes sense, when you're outnumbered 100:1 with a mob where about 10% look like they're out for blood (seriously, some of those guys...) you would have to be retarded to try and stop them. For one, by the time they get to that stage of The Plan (and they actually do have a plan) they will probably already have convinced most of us to turn over our guns, making it a whole lot easier to just go in and do it.

Secondly, nobody ever stops child service departments from walzing in to their houses to take their children away right now as it is and throwing them in foster care because some busybody reported them for letting their kids play outside in the driveway without supervision. I'm hard pressed to see that changing.

1 ▾ Im glad im not the only one who gets it, we keep endlessly sitting around on our hands either out of principle or anticipating a last minute miracle, that just passes and is replaced by more false hope.

Meanwhile we lose more ground every day and the longer we wait the more difficult it will be to get people to mount a resistance. Over time things will become normalized and the sheep will just accept it and move on, many already have.

Judging by the peoples willingness to endure lockdowns and the destruction of their livelihoods for montha before there was any real bitching about it im not optimistic for the future if something significant doesnt change soon.

Trump was supposed to be the engine behind the movement, i was concerned but didnt really believe they would be brazen enough to steal the election, and then the GOP stuck their daggers in our back too.

In my opinion Trump was our peaceful attempt, now its time to stop being peaceful.

99.9% of us standing on the capitol that day didn't vandalize a damn thing. But that is our house and our vote was stolen. Our law of the land is broken. Our justice is broken. Our voices and our skin color and our children have been condemned since 2015 and before.

Sadly the capitol incident is gonna be used against us. No matter how you solved it people unnecessarily lost their loves at it. Not a lot, but it's still a bad look no matter how you slice it.

I'm not entirely sure how it occurred the way it did, but we need to be more aware of our surroundings when doing these events,

“ No matter how you solved it people unnecessarily lost their loves at it. Not a lot, but it's still a bad look no matter how you slice it.

Any idea how many of their loves were lost during the summer riots by BLM & Antifa terrorists? Hint: Only at least 10 times more, not counting the cost of property damages.

You guys are spending too much time trying to argue over odd things.

Dude I never said the media doesn't spin stories. The problem is we handed this one to them. And we lost people. People died and are now facing trumped up charges. It's not just about the media here, it's about the people who are on our side who are going to take a serious hit because of this.

Again man, I'm not denying the destruction of BLM but that's not a counter to my argument. I don't want our people dying over unnecessary actions that accomplish nothing.

Why it is youre trying to argue over this is beyond me.

18 Please, Don't repeat marxism's vocab for them; don't carry their water. It's like calling marxists/Lefties "liberals" as an insult; you're not insulting them, you're giving them the exact cover-word that FDR re-defined to give them cover for their evil ideology---ie helping marxists with their smokescreen and devaluing the word/vocab which they are using, spreading their message.

Thus you're devaluing AMEN which is one of their goals with the word; and removing the meanings.

Focus & Discipline, don't help the commies particularly if you think it's "funny"... Pol Pot's killing Fields are not funny; nor is AOC's "lists". Commies are dead serious. You're words will decide & Can't defeat commies by using their methods.

Indeed. When Deep State midget Fauci started to give self-contradicting messages about China virus & masks and the fake news media uniformly pushed for mail-in ballots as early as Feb-Mar 2020, anyone with at least half a brain knows the subversive Dem traitors have already had plan to rig election and wouldn't announce winner on Election Night.

If you pay attention and have at least an ounce of commonsense, you know what's up. Just like how

Alex Jones was able to correctly predict traitorous Fox News would betray Trump on Election Night,

As soon as they started announcing the mail in voting shit was coming i knew and started warning people everywhere i could that the dems were going to use it to steal the election and the only way to win was with a massive Trump blowout.

Turns out it didnt matter that Trump won in a landslide they simply rigged the vote and refused to hear anything about the fraud.

I guess the question then is, is Trump in on it? I personally don't think so; I think it's just that the system is SO corrupt and enough of the right people have been paid off, to see to it that his election-overturning attempts don't result in any actual wins. Because I can't imagine Trump (or ANYONE!) willingly putting themselves through this level of harassment, ridicule, and stress for the last 5 years without wholly believing in themselves and their agenda. I mean, he was already a rich guy and his whole appeal was that he therefore couldn't be bought like other politicians. So I think they played him, if anything.

He is not in on anything. They are holding a figurative or even possibly literal gun to him and his familys heads. This man has been through complete hell for 4 years and fought longer and harder than I thought possible. I refuse to judge him based on these obviously coerced statements as of late. You'd be hard pressed to find someone that could have survived walking these past 4 years in his shoes. So I will respectfully disagree with his sentiments and remember him as the absolute LION he has been for us.

He's going along with it to calm down their bullshit after the 6th. That doesn't mean nothing is happening, that he's given up, etc. IF he actually has a plan, he wouldn't be acting any differently right now. The 6th forced him into a shitty spot that he has to have a whole new strategy to maneuver out of to get shit done.

▼ You can support the movement while disagreeing with Trump's change of tone as of late. The movement is bigger than just him. People just see the writing on the wall. The sooner the rest of you come to the same conclusion the sooner we can all get on with our lives and make the best out of a really shitty situation for this country.

▼ I'm referring to all the "trust the plan" Q type nonsense that consumes peoples entire existences in a very unhealthy way. All I am asking is that people face reality and move forward with their lives to the best of their ability. How this election panned out is a bitter pill to swallow but this is our new reality for now at least. Not sure where you get the idea that I'm asking for any sort of savior. We can all be a part of the change we would like to see in the world in our own ways.

▼ Not sure where you got the impression I'm asking for any sort of savior, I am not. All I'm saying is people need to wake up to our new reality. Its a bitter pill to swallow but all of the "trust the plan" Q nonsense still running rampant consuming peoples lives is not healthy. Its possible to be thankful for the 4 years we got out of Trump and the movement he started while disagreeing with his recent statements that basically condemns the whole lot of us. I'm sure it was all said under duress anyways. Its cliché to say but we should all try to be part of the change we would like to see in the world. MAGA is bigger than any single person. Trump woke a lot of people up and showed us the path. Its up to each and every one of us to keep that dream alive with or without him.

You have to listen to his actual words. I know a bunch of people who just reconstruct what they think people said based on their feelings. That doesn't work if you want to live a life grounded in truth and reality. Go back and listen to his actual words and think deeply about any other meanings they might have.

He's still going along with the fake China Virus bullshit and he never fired Fauci. He should have fired Fauci and ended the emergency declaration the minute "Muh Ventilators" was over. The only reason the governors were able to do everything they did was because of his state of emergency.

Letting Pence run that shitshow with FauXi and Berks for the entire year was a horrible mistake. It was all done for optics, the Karens and the media. I know he had to do something at first, but like you said, when they got the ventilators they should've reversed course. By then, it was clear that they were using it as a political weapon. The decision to do mass testing was what allowed it to metastasize and grow momentum.

▼ If he is convicted he will very likely face the death penalty. The impeachment this time is for inciting an insurrection which is a maximum severity crime against the state. By using this language he greatly reduces support for a "mandatory" convict vote in the senate.

He is also projecting an image completely counter to the madman that Pelosi says he is. This makes her look insane and only further erodes her power. She can swing a sword around and scream she is in charge all she wants, but at some point you go from intimidating to just looking sad and insane.

And Trump never had a fucking plan. Sun Tsu never suggested allowing yourself to be completely defeated and before you throw the first punch.

He knew months before the election what was coming, he literally did NOTHING to prepare for it or stop it. He failed at his primary duty under his oath - FFS he couldn't be bothered over the past 4 years to familiarize himself with the basic Constitution.

▼ Violence is the basis of all political solutions. People don't obey laws because they get asked nicely. They obey laws because a) they didn't need a law to get them to do right in the first place or b) because they are threatened with violence for not complying (this includes robberies called "fines").

Debate and democratic systems are civilized ways of resolving the conflict of values created by differing ideologies and priorities. We have been robbed of both.

▼ If Trump goes full Lincoln mode and does a martial law revote then I'm all in, I just haven't seen anything to believe that's actually going to happen. We haven't lost the vote, some commies just rigged it. Now we can unfuck things for the next one. That faggot in Broward nearly stole the election from DeSantis two years ago, FL got their shit together this time and it was a pretty easy win. No reason we can't do the same in these other states now.

Also Dems are fair game for all the swamp fuckery they pulled on us the last 4 years, we get to beat them at their own game now.

▼ He had to be really bold before the election for it to be avoided. He needed to fire Barr and Wray first off. Then direct the DOJ to place federal marshals at vote count centers to secure the votes. This should've happened the moment several states halted the vote count. He could've even used NG troops to do this. Voting was over so it wouldn't influence voter turnout. Something the media would accuse him of. Dominion machines are another issue but he had 4 years to prepare for this. I think he was always concerned about being impeached, which happens no matter what he does.

nope. The left circles the wagons and the right disavows anyone less than perfect and gets picked apart one by one.

The only time you should disavow someone on your side is if they're caught raping and murdering children in a satanic ritual

...and it won't stop there.

In fact, just today Apple released a statement announcing the launch of a new $100 million+ "racial equity and justice initiative project to challenge systemic racism." From what I read, it will tie into several "education and funding commitments later in 2021" and it all stems from BLM "protests."

It's all about distribution of resources, regardless of whether anything is earned and you'll be getting more because of immutable characteristics now.

Yea, the whole planet saw the robbery of the US Election. And how media companies and politicians just went with the robbery.

Now is not a good time to be praising Law. You praise Law AFTER they do a good bust, then faith can be restored.

But telling, say, Black Communities, to ignore all the profiling and simply bend, will NOT sway well.

The dude said "he hasn't conceded" as if that means anything or as if it meant biden wouldn't or couldn't be President. It means nothing. It doesn't matter if he does or doesn't.

What good does it do? So because rational people in here are saying biden will be President (he will) means they're dicks or had somehow?

Facing reality and discussing the events unfolding before our eyes is all that people are doing.

It sucks. It's demoralizing. Biden cheated... but you need to cope friend. I mean that genuinely.

8 No, he doesn't. Show me in the Constitution where it says one must say "I concede" in order for their opponent to be inaugurated and move into the WH? You can't, because it's not in there. He will not say "I concede" because of his ego and because he knows it was stolen. That however does not mean that Biden will not be inaugurated and occupy the WH. Trump already confirmed back at his Thanksgiving presser that if Joe was certified, "of course" he would leave the WH. Seriously, what is it going to take for people like you to wake up?

13 ▼ He let cities burn as a sort of election motivator...and then complained about mail in ballots...did nothing...and now look where we are.

Ultimately he is the Commander in Chief, top Executive and tasked with making sure laws and justice is carried out. And he let his own country's cities burn. Taking the "states' rights" approach to that was such a bad move. He can't pass the buck off on anyone else, as much as he tried to.

15 There is zero possibility of Trump being inaugurated on the 20th. Zero. Even if you believe he will ultimately get his 2nd term, it's not going to happen on the 20th. Other things would need to happen before Trump could be inaugurated. At a bare minimum, it would take some kind of congressional action to declare him the winner. If anyone gets inaugurated on the 20th, it will be Biden. If Biden doesn't get inaugurated, then nothing is happening on the 20th.

inaugurated, then nothing is happening on the 20th.

He's issuing this for legal reasons close to the impeachment proceedings and close to him leaving office so if and when he has to appear before a court, there can be no doubt that he did not call for insurrection or for the events that took place at the Capitol.

Let me spell the events out for the Q folks:

The plan on the 6th was for a large number of people to march down to the Capitol and celebrate when congress threw out the falsely certified electoral votes. Congress did the opposite, which pissed off a crowd of 250k people. Capitol police tried to contain the angry mob but then said, "fuck this shit, and stepped aside." Congress got scared because they did something wrong.

The AP took pictures of the scared congress people. Upon release, the pictures had the opposite effect, as AOC cowering ass first towards the camera did not gain sympathy points with Patriots. Congress realized what was actually happening and realized that they needed to spin the narrative fast.

Patriots did what patriots do and stayed inside the velvet ropes and then proceeded to take peaceful pictures in the gallery and on the floor of the house and senate. Some people went into congressional offices and took pictures there.

Because congress is selected rather than elected and absolutely cannot have the pedestrians trying to ride their horses, they are now trying to identify everyone who so much as breathed in the vicinity of the Capitol and charge them with high crimes.

Congress no longer gives a shit about the American people. They are going to make an example of all of us. But more than that, they want to make a huge example of Trump. A 10 year prison sentence is a death sentence for him. If they can't get that, they're going to deplatform him, wipe out his investments, and destroy any positive legacy he might have.

So no, this video isn't part of a master plan. It's him saving his ass and his family; which is what any of us would do in his shoes.

It's sad that We the People try to uphold law and order by stopping an illegal election and then get painted as the terrorists. I'd say this was clown world but we're so far past that, we may as well be living in hell now.

Honestly it would be better for him to pardon himself, his family, friends, supporters, even give them medals and resign so swamp can't impeach&convict him, so he can run again in 2024 on total anti establishment agenda. ✓

Most would, not all. We know from history that many people have in fact risked everything and YOLO'd to victory.

My suspicion is that he will come to regret not going all in when he had the chance. The Uniparty is not going to forgive or forget, no matter what they have promised him.

2 Um no sweaty that was social justice in action. See Trump voters have "false consciousness". Proletariats are often brainwashed into identifying with the system that keeps them in chains. If they knew their true best interests they would have voted for Biden. So actually by switching out their "false consciousness" ballots with "undocumented ballots" from under the table those vote counters were increasing the amount of Diversity, Equity and Inclusion in the world which is always a good thing.

9 Lots of people not there on this very site were happy as well and saying the same thing, myself included. I still think it was patriotic as fuck. People try to say it was only antifa now on here but thread history is a hell of a thing.

7 The desperate rewriting of history surrounding the patriotic and absolutely justified reclaiming of the Capitol from unelected traitors is pathetic. Ashli Babbitt is a hero; if only we had ten million more like her.

The only message Patriots should be sending re the Capitol incident is 'keep fucking us over and we'll do it with the gloves off next time'.

3 I was there too.

▼ There wasn't just one dynamic, there were several depending on what side of the building you were on and the time of day.

It was a mixture. Many were let in by the cops, many just walked in unopposed, the violent morc weren't dressed like ANTIFA but they're weren't real pedes either. There absolutely were non-Tr. s egging things on. ✓

Were there some actual Trumpers inside? Yeah. But they didn't fight their way in. But they got scared!

"Qtard" lmao bro, you're a media narrative lemming and don't even realize it. Never a day in my life have I listened to the Q shit. You're an actual LARPing fuck who likely holds the dissonant beliefs that 1) the election was blatantly stolen so a hostile regime can be installed (true) AND 2) we shouldn't be storming the Capitol in response (retarded and wrong)

▼ It's not him. Sorry man you got tricked.

This is 1984 with Google/Hollywood/China against us. Look at Trump's tie knot. It's sloppy. Find one picture where Donald sucks at the double Windsor. Fucking one.

Find one video where he talks like this without mentioning the previous deep fakes or the failed military coup.

Not one word of Pence lacking courage or declassification or Nancy's attempted military coup... not one. This is fake gentleman. Trump learned to tie the double Windsor in finishing school. This paid actor can't tie a tie as a pro.
